

Contract Disputes

Contracts come in a variety of forms. They can be written or oral. They can be long, detailed and complicated or short, brief and simple.

We deal with the broad range of contractual disputes the most common relating to the supply of goods and services.

When breach of an agreement arises, it is important to understand what the obligations are and what the appropriate remedy is. Very often the answer to the problem lies in the contract itself and a well drafted contract can make the resolution of disputes much easier.

If you have a contract dispute, please do not hesitate to contact us.
